About Raftcon

The genesis of Raftcon dates back to 1990. It is a fully integrated civil engineering company engaged in a wide range of activities including industrial, commercial, and residential complexes, as well as housing colonies and other civil works. Over the years, Raftcon has diversified its operations and is now actively involved in industrial civil and fabrication work, commercial turnkey projects, residential turnkey complexes, and chemical plant construction.

The driving force behind Raftcon is Mr. Gulamsarwar Qureshi, whose visionary leadership has played a significant role in the company's success. With over 35 years of experience in the construction industry, Mr. Qureshi has shaped Raftcon into a leading organization. Before founding Raftcon, he was a partner in sister concern companies — Build Well and Buildcon Construction Company in Gujarat, India. During this period, he successfully managed several major construction projects across India.

Today, Mr. Gulamsarwar Qureshi serves as the Managing Director and Chairman of Raftcon Construction. His deep expertise in construction, technological innovation, and project management continues to benefit the company’s clients and partners. Under his guidance, Raftcon strives to build a profitable and sustainable future, backed by a strong foundation of proven industry knowledge and successful project execution.
